Swift's Premium Calendar for 1909.

Swift's Premium Calendar for 1909 consists of reproductions in color of four of the world's famous masterpieces of painting. The first subject is Gaiety, S. Truesdell's pastoral scene, "Going to Pasture." The original of this picture is now on exhibition in the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington.

Next, Winslow Homer's stirring marine picture, "All's Well," was chosen. This picture is in Homer's best style, showing a strength and simplicity that conveys his idea at a glance. This is among the treasures of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The third subject is Breton's famous "Song of the Lark." This picture, on exhibition at the Art Institute of Chicago, is the best known of the four. This beautiful reproduction faithfully portrays the spirit of the original.

Bougereau's "The Sisters" completes this Annet of all Swift & Company calendars.

Bougereau is represented in this country by several paintings, especially mural decorations in New York. "The Sisters" is in the Metropolitan Museum, is one of his best and happiest efforts.

The calendar can be secured for 10 cents in stamps or coin from Swift & Company, Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill., Calendar Dept.

Death of Charles Schreiber.

To the Honorable Members of the County Board of Supervisors of Wood County, Wis.

Your special committee, appointed to investigate and report on the advisability of adding a county school of agriculture and school of domestic science to the present training school system of our county, respectfully reports as follows:

Your committee, on Oct. 27th, and 28th made a trip to Monmouth, Wis., and Watonsau, Wis., to examine the county training schools located in these cities. The agricultural and domestic science departments in Monmouth have about fifty scholars at present enrolled, about twenty boys and thirty girls. They expect to have about twenty more scholars enrolled later on. This work is well established at Monmouth and has been such a success as to attract the attention of the people throughout the state of Wisconsin, as well as in the United States.

They have a complete dairy plant and the operations of this plant are under the hand of an expert butter maker and the cream is purchased from the farmers in the vicinity of Monmouth and the results of this creamery department show a substantial profit. There has been added a manual training school to this plant, where the boys are taught blacksmithing, brick laying and other work. There are about seven acres of land in connection with the school, but this amount about one acre from the school buildings, every department of the training school. Agricultural and domestic science are surely bringing good results. There is a short term of about a week time during the mid-winter for farmers which is well attended.

The domestic science school is also well conducted and the young ladies are taught to take care of the dairy and sew and do general house work and as to the selection of seeds and a general knowledge of agriculture.

Your committee are indebted for the many courtesies shown by Senator Stout, who devoted considerable time to giving information to your committee; the faculty of the school were also very kind and attentive to our committee.

The Monmouth school force consists of a principal and two assistants, besides a practical butter maker, as well as one-half of the time of a stronger and bookkeeper, the time of the latter being divided with the training school for teachers.

The expenses of the school of agriculture and domestic science at Monmouth are about seven thousand ($7000.00) dollars per year.

We next visited the training school at Watonsau and were pleasantly surprised to find that there was a large attendance there, consisting of twenty-four boys and thirty-five girls in the schools of agriculture and domestic science. They expect about twenty-five more students within a short time, the work here is being pushed in a thorough manner and is showing up good results.

We interviewed a number of the business men, all of whom are well satisfied with the work being done by these schools and the results that are shown by the graduates throughout the country. There was no effort made by the present superintendent who arrived last year to secure students, so those who attend were among those most needy. The schools are about to start a butter making plant on a small scale, they have considerable machinery and the demonstrations of the growing crops in the planted ground seem to have been with great success. The equipment is not quite so elaborate as the Monmouth schools, but are sufficient for their needs. The two schools at Watonsau consist of a supervisor, two assistants and one-half of the time of a stronger and bookkeeper, the expenses last year were about six thousand ($6000.00) dollars.

Your committee are well satisfied with their trip and know that any of the members who might have an opportunity to see what they have seen would be impressed with the value of these schools and that the schools will continue to be more popular from year to year.

Your committee have written to the superintendent of schools and have ascertained that LaCrosse county is now preparing to establish one of those training schools with the school of agriculture and domestic science, and that there are three more provided for by the state, as you are probably aware, the state pays two-thirds of the maintenance of schools up to a sum not to exceed $4000.00. This would only leave on a six thousand ($6000.00) dollar appropriation, the sum of two thousand ($2000.00) dollars to be paid by the county establishing the same.

Your committee therefore, recommend that these two schools be established in this county and that the necessary sum be appropriated to carry on the work for the first year.

They also recommend that the basement and the second floor in the present training school building be finished to take care of these two schools. The intention is to use the second story for the present training school teachers and have the basement and the first floor for the school of agriculture and domestic science.

There should be added a green house at the rear of the building, the expense of said improvements are estimated to be three thousand ($3000.00) dollars and the equipment one thousand ($1000.00) dollars. The sum of four thousand ($4000.00) dollars they recommend to be appropriated for said purposes.

Respectfully submitted,

A. E. Bennett,
M. M. Lochner
E. P. Arpin

Special committee

Moved that the report of the special committee be adopted. Carried.

Resolution.—It is hereby resolved by the County Board of the county of Wood at its regular annual meeting in November, 1908, that the special committee appointed to have all reported miscellaneous papers affecting this to read extra, and not all ready included in the tract index, indexed in an index book provided for that purpose, and hereby are authorized to hire a competent person to review, examine and complete such index of miscellaneous papers, the cost thereof to be paid out of the general fund of said county, and the work to be performed as soon as possible.

Moved by Mr. Lindemann that the resolution be adopted. Carried.

and for state aid to the sum of two-thirds of the cost of maintaining said schools of agriculture and domestic science, provided the state aid does not exceed four thousand ($4000.00) dollars.

A Personal Appeal.

If we could talk to you personally about the great merit of Foley's Honey and Tar, for coughs, colds and lung trouble, you never could be induced to experiment with unknown preparations that may contain some harmful drugs. Beware of Frequent Colds.

A succession of colds or a protracted cold is almost certain to end in chronic catarrh, from which few persons ever wholly recover. Give every cold the attention it deserves and you may avoid this disagreeable disease. How can you cure a cold? Why not try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy? It is highly recommended. Mrs. M. White, of Butler, Tenn., writes: "Several years ago I was bothered with my throat and lungs. Someone told me of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I began using it and it relieved me at once. Now my throat and lungs are sound and well." For sale by Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.

Mrs. McRaney's Experience.

Mrs. M. McRaney, Prosser, Miss., writes: "I was confined to my bed for three months with kidney and bladder trouble, and was treated by several physicians but failed to get relief. No human tongue can tell how I suffered, and I had given up hope of ever getting well until I began taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. After taking two bottles I felt like a new person, and feel it my duty to tell suffering women what Foley's Kidney Remedy did for me." John E. Daly and Johnson & Hill Co.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer"

—The fame of the New England play, "Quincy Adams Sawyer," has spread all over the country and everywhere theatre going people are on the qui vive to see it. It is booked to play an engagement here at Daly's Theatre, Wednesday, Dec. 23rd, and a crowded house will doubtless show its approval of the wholesome story of New England life. Characters that were in the book are felt in the play. All the principal among the most naturally realistic scenes ever put on the American stage. One critic said of the play: "It is as sweetly natural as the breath of the fields, the good folks who move in its scenes are real, and their honest humor and everyday views of life are cheerful while throughout the clever chain of events runs the golden thread of a unique love story."

The thousands of readers of the book will be interested to know how the novel has been utilized for the stage purposes and what scenes serve as backgrounds for these honest country people to show as their simple, ordinary lives. The first act shows the interior of Benson Hill's grocery store, including the village postoffice at Benson's Corner where Quincy Adams Sawyer and the town quill, Bob, Watson, place. Act two has two scenes, the first of which represents the Cross-Roads between Eastborough and Benson's Corner and the second the sitting room at the Putnam farm. The third act is the Pettengill farm yard where the famous lunking bee in the great barn is shown. The first scene of the fourth act shows the exterior of the Pettengill house during a rousing New England snow storm, and the second scene pictures the Pettengill's cozy living room.

The play is built distinctly on comedy lines and there is almost a continuous laugh from beginning to end, the sweet dignified love scenes between Quincy Adams Sawyer and the blind girl, alone commanding that respectful silence which proves that the author who penned the tender, sentimental touches, and the actors who portray them, compel that involuntary sympathy which is the highest tribute to genius and art.

Good Cough Medicine for Children.

The season for coughs and colds is now at hand and too much care cannot be used to protect the children. A child is much more likely to contract diphtheria or scarlet fever when he has a cold. The quicker you cure his cold the less the risk. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the sole reliance of many mothers, and few of those who have tried it are willing to use any other. Mrs. F. F. Starcher, of Ripley, W. Va., says: "I have never used anything other than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for my children and it has always given good satisfaction."

This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. For sale by Daly Drug & Jewelry Co.

A carload of grindstones arrived at the Consolidated mill on Thursday. The writer can remember along back in the sixties when he used to get out frosty mornings and turn the grindstone while the neighbors and friends of the family ground their axes. We thought then that it was quite a job, but we realize now that it might have been worse. The grindstones received by the Consolidated people weighed nearly 6000 pounds a piece, and it requires several hundred horsepower to turn one of them, being fifty-four inches in diameter with a thirty inch face. We are thankful that we did not have to turn one of these grindstones.

Ganderbone's Forecast for December.
Save, brothers, save with care, A nickel here and a nickel there— A two-bit piece will fill the tank Of some small cabinet with rum. Nigger-toes, peanuts, ham-buns, Apples, raisins, lemon drops, Peppernuts, suckers, caramels, Tiborits, luffys, butterscotch, Walnuts, figs and angel cake— Save for the Christmas belly-ache.

Save, brothers, save your dough, Save for the stockings in a row— A four-bit piece will buy a sled, A pair of boots upholstered red, A doll with skull grass on her head, Teddy bear, a horn, a drum, An alpaca, jack-knife, pair of skates, A magic lantern, doll house, piano, A box of soldiers made of tin— Save for the Christmas morning din.

Save, brothers, save for keeps, Save for the night nobody sleeps— A six-bit piece will buy a book, A piece of cat fur for the cook, A picture for the empty nook, A pair of holiday cigars, A hatpin, slippers, pair of mitts, A dozen handkerchiefs, a shirt, A piece of neckwear now and strange Save for the annual exchange.

December was the tenth month in the old Roman year, and gets its name from the Latin decem (10). But what with forest fires in the middle of autumn, the Roman Fire Department had no time to put out Christmas trees, and when Numa's own palace burned he rearranged the calendar and moved Christmas along to a time when the flames had nothing else on.

The frisky calf will snuff the morn and merrily cavort, and the frost will nip him where his scant upholstery is short. The boys will flock to Sunday school with fine religious fire, the hired man will hang around unworthy of his hire, the warning goose will hurry south on frantic wings a rustle, with winter urging him along where corn wore the bustle.

The melancholy days will come, and Boreas will roar; the wolf will thrust his muzzle through the keyhole in the door. He'll whiff the scent of bacon brought at 30 cents a pound, and plain potatoes by the box with tinsed wrapped around; and every time we chime him off and bid him to his den, the frisks will pump his stomach out and sit him on again.

The water pipes will all explode And give the house a jar; The plumber's chumf will get out The throbbing racing car; But while relief is on the way To plug the gushing spout, The car will have a hemorrhage And blow its wheels out.

The unaccompanied wife will quit her cozy bed and build the fire the while her lord pretends that he is dead. She'll wrap herself up in her hair and shiver in the dawn, and chop the kindling, hustle coal and turn the damper on; and while she freezes till she turns the hue of a vermillion, the scientists will wonder why the men outlive the women.

Millie's winter suit will cost A fifty-dollar note. But man will face the blizzard in The same old overcoat. The cook will gasoline the fire, And the choir, in sweet accord, Will sing on Sunday at the house, "O, I am coming, Lord!"

On the 21st the sun will enter Capricorn, and the winter solstice will occur. This will cause trusts to spawn, and the yule tide will come in. Solstice is from sol (the sun) and sisters (to stand.) Thus, having touched its turning point south of the equator, the sun temporarily stands still. This was where Joshua held it up, from which we have our word Josh. Anybody can do it.

At any rate, the 21st will be the shortest day of the year, and we shall pass under the influence of Capricorn, the Goat. This is the tenth sign of the zodiac. It was represented on the ancient monuments as an old man with a body of a goat, which signifies that during the Christmas season Father is the goat.

The Christmas shoppers' Marathon Will happen as of yore, And the little savings bank will chase The present round the store. The unalashed dollar will pursue The frightened Teddy Bear. The crowd will trample on the clerks And pull each other's hair; The young and wild will pull and push And mill around and butt. And Santa Claus in terror will Take to the tall uceat.

And then the fateful Christmas Eve will come with wintry weather, and Morzou will hang up his shirt with both tails pinned together; and anything by way of luck that manages to miss its yawning neck we're welcome to, O joy and double bliss! The happy kids will rise at morn With rapture at the bat And get down twenty-seven steps With bare in nothing flat. The tickled heart of youth will dance And sing its wondrous lullaby. The cautious boy will climb the flue To see if any smoke. The house will oscillate with joy. The breakfast will be late And old John D. will get the earth For thirty winters straight.

Mr. Roosevelt will give a big game dinner at the white House Christmas day. All the big lion hunters of the world will attend, and there will be a roaring contest, with favors. The pass word for this month is supplied by the Kaiser William. Mam is the word. The moon will be full on the 7th, and there will be bad weather around 26 Broadway every day but Sunday.

The mistletoe will tempt the maid Beneath the chandelier, The loving swain will halt and start Betwixt his love and fear, And then dash in with beating heart And chew her blushing ear.

The birthstone for December is the onyx. This is because children are unexpected, at a time when the stock has to make his deliveries in a fire-loss cooker.

Then Leap Year will have run its course With little to its merit, And the spinster who has missed her chance Will have to buy a parrot.

Answers the Call.
"Old Golden" that mighty denizen of the wild who has made his home in the woods in the vicinity of Cedar creek and Mosinee hill has at last gone to the happy hunting ground of deodora via the venison route. After battling the plans of the best hunters in this part of the country for many seasons he finally went over the divide to the tune of a load of No. 2 buckshot.

"Old Golden" attained prominence in these parts some eight years ago through his immense size and the peculiar color of his coat from which came his nickname. Hundreds of times he has been the target for as many rifles and scores of hunters have camped persistently on his trail which was readily distinguished on account of one of his hoofs being crippled. Whether he had thrown caution to the winds and trusted to luck is pretty hard to say. Any way his day came, the same as every one else's, only in this case a sixteen year old boy and a twelve bore shot gun played the Gabriel's horn stunt.

He was perhaps the largest specimen of the deer family ever killed in these parts and weighed 317 pounds. His antlers had a spread between the points wide enough to allow a large man to sit down with ease.—Mosinee Times.

Hurley—While John Laland and three friends were hunting near Saxon one of the party, Jerry King, an ex-soldier in the United States infantry, shot and killed probably the oldest deer slain in these parts for many years. The buck weighed 300 pounds and one antler was found to have to prongs and the other 15. The animal was hit by seven bullets before yielding up its life.

—In all the world nothing like H. W. Barker's Cough Remedy. It cures. All druggists.

A Real Deer Story.
Now that the open season for deer hunters is closed, the "open season" for deer hunting stories is on. New ones crop up each fall, some good and others, well, the salt shaker is convenient to have nearby. The following is a strictly home product.

It is a tale of a blind doe. A hunter near a settlement north of here, brought down a big buck with a single shot. Going to where his quarry lay, he was much surprised to see a doe standing over the buck, with the tip of the buck's tail in her mouth. Going closer, the hunter discovered the doe to be blind and surmised that the buck must have been guiding his companion through the woods, the doe holding to his tail. The hunter, being quick-witted, quickly drew his knife, cut off the buck's tail and proudly led his captive into camp. From all late reports the doe is still in captivity.—Tomahawk Leader.

A CUT OF A HEATING STOVE

can be made to look very fine—but is it not best to see the stove itself? And is it not a good idea to look at one with a good character? One that has proved conclusively that no other is as reliably good? You do not buy a heating stove very often—why not have one that is right. The expense is no more, unless you can be satisfied with a very cheap one and then you get just what you pay for.

"NOTHING BUT A ROUND OAK STOVE WOULD DO FOR A CASE LIKE THIS, FRITZ"

The genuine ROUND OAK heating stove is the best stove made—any one who has ever used one will tell you this is true. It has friends everywhere. It is different and it is better than other stoves and you will get out of a ROUND OAK a great many good things that no other ever did or can do. If interested, call in and see the stove with a reputation. Look always for the name Round Oak on the leg and door; only the genuine has it.

CRANBERRY NOTES.

From the Local Field

The cold weather and strong, dry winds during the first week of this month was severe on vines exposed to it, but growers insist no harm has been done yet.

Jacob Seals began pumping water from Elm Lake last week to flood his cranberry vines.

A skillful trapper could make good wages this winter trapping muskrat and muskrats on the cranberry bogs.

O. G. Muldo has been assisting Judge Lewis during the past three weeks in laying out the plan for developing a large cranberry bog near Cumberland, Wis.

The amount of rainfall during the months of Sept., Oct. and November of this year has been very light.

There are a large amount of vines not yet flooded, and snow will stay on until spring, there will be some winter killing. Some of our growers are using gasoline pumps to raise water for flooding and others are covering their vines with hay.

A. U. Chaney will be here on Friday, Dec. 12th, to meet with the directors and inspectors, to examine and adjust the losses that have been sustained on sales this season, and to charge the same back to the grower.

About Bulk Heads.

Bulk-heads and waterways of all kinds are often built too small for the quick work demanded of them on frosty nights. The following rule will help one to get the discharge over a horizontal board in a rectangular bulk-head: Find the length of the edge of the board over which the water flows and the depth of the edge of the board below the level of the water in the ditch above, then multiply the length by the depth and by the square root of the depth and by four-tenths and the product will be the number of cubic feet discharged per minute.

It requires 35500 cubic feet of water to cover an acre one foot deep.

With the above data one can figure out how long it would take a given flow at a bulk-head to flood a given surface to the required depth.

J. A. Gaynor.

Generally we do not like to complain of the existing order of things nor try to turn the earth out of its course, but we do believe that there should be a fire in the school house before 8:45 in the morning when the weather is five degrees below zero. What is the matter with the school board?

There were services at the church from Saturday till Tuesday.

Henry Huser has gone to the woods to work this winter instead of going to Madison as was reported some time ago.
